CONTENTS OF VOL. I.

	PAGE
A Dialogue and a Moral	1
"Above All, No Programme." By Alfred Austin	24
The First of March 1711. By The Earl of Carnarvon	40
The Work of the Church during the Present Century. By Canon Gregory	51
Permeation: A Reverie at Brooks's. By An Old Whip	68
Conservatism in Art. By W. J. Courthope	72
Berkeley's Life and Letters. By Arthur James Balfour, M.P.	85
Radicalism and the People. By W. H. Mallock	101
Sonnet	112
France and Judicial Reform in Egypt. By H. A. Perry	113
The Paintings of Mr. Rossetti. By David Hannay	126
Irish Legislation and its Results. By Viscount Midleton	135
Current Politics. By the Editors	152, 314, 468, 633, 783, 933
Our Critics	161
An Essayist of Three Hundred Years Ago. By The Earl of Lytton	175
Imperial Emigration. By George Potter	193
Lord Ripon's New Indian Policy. By Walter Seton-Karr	208
Homes of the Criminal Classes. By H. E. Hoare	224
The Redistribution of Political Power. By The Right Hon. H. C. Raikes, M.P.	240
The New School of Fiction. By A. Tilley	257
Coalitions.—A Centenary Anniversary. By T. H. Kebbel	269
Lord Lawrence and Masterly Inactivity. By D. C. Boulger	286
Berkeley's Life and Letters. By A. J. Balfour, M.P.	299
The Prime Minister's Dilemma. By Alfred Austin	321
Liberty and Socialism. By The Earl of Pembroke	336
Gaffer Hodge: His Thowts. By John Hodge	362
Life and Work of the Church of Scotland. By J. H. Rankin, D.D.	364
On the Literary Advantages of Grub Street. By Thomas Tantivy	376
Names and Characters in "The Vicar of Wakefield." By Edward Ford	387
The Municipality of London. By M. E. Harkness	395
Sir Francis Drake: Some Points in his Character and Career. By Walter Herries Pollock	408
Suggestions for the Development of our Yeomanry Cavalry. By W. A. Baillie-Hamilton	424
The Bridge: A Fable. By The Earl of Lytton	439
The Incidence and Administration of Local Taxes. By Albert Pell, M.P.	442
On the Study of Classical Archæology. By C. T. Newton, C.B.	452
"Veiled Obstruction." By Arthur James Balfour, M.P.	477

PAGE

England and France in Indo-China. By the Author of "Across Chrysê" 490
The Radicalism of the Market-Place. By W. H. Mallock . . 507
Lines to an Unknown Cockney. By Alfred Austin . . . 531
What is a Whig? By The Right Hon. Earl Percy, M.P. . . 540
"Jocoseria" and the Critics: A Plea for the Reader. By William John Courthope 548
On National Unity. By Robert Moffatt 562
A Paradox on Quinet. By George Saintsbury 575
The Story of the Escape of Prince Metternich. By Baron Carl von Hugel 588
The Work of the Church of England during the Present Century. By Canon Gregory 606
English Tenant Right. By Clare Sewell Read 624
Figures, Facts, and Fallacies. By N. 641
A Stroll with Corkhouse. By Lord Sangfroid 646
The Gold Question and the Fall of Prices. By H. H. Gibbs, Governor of the Bank of England 658
Mr. Irving as a Tragedian. By B. Brooksbank 677
Conservative Instincts in the English People:—
I. The Middle Classes. By T. E. Kebbel 687
II. The Working Classes. By Percy Greg 701
Robin Hood's Bay. By Sir Francis Hastings Doyle, Bart. . 712
The Future of Whiggism. By George Byron Curtis . . . 718
Roma Nuova—Roma Vecchia. By Lord Lamington . . . 726
The Suez Canal. By Arthur Mills 737
The Art of Essay Writing. By John Dennis 744
The Lords and the Deceased Wife's Sister Bill. By The Right Hon. A. J. Beresford-Hope, M.P. 758
An Introduction to the "Pensées" of Pascal. By H. W. Hoare . 767
England and France in the East. By Harold A. Perry . . 791
Thoughts on Family Politics. By Thomas Tantivy . . . 810
Homes of the Criminal Classes. By Hugh E. Hoare . . . 824
The Engadine. By The Rev. G. F. Browne 841
The Ride of the Dead. By W. H. Mallock 856
National Education. By St. George Mivart 864
The Mahmal and the British Troops in Egypt. By Philip Vernon Smith 874
The Cattle-Ranche Country of Canada. By Alexander Staveley Hill, Q.C., M.P. 885
The Scientific Novel and Gustave Flaubert. By Hugh E. Egerton 894
The Volunteers as a Military Force. By Francis Radcliffe . 908
A Defence of Sport. By Richard Jefferies 919